Tomorrow We Switch Off from the Past Routine of Business and Start Another Great Rebuilding Sale.

The transformation which will make the Busy Corner the most attractive business centre in this, the Nation's Capital, will take at least two months and perhaps more. Tearing out walls means lots to merchandise. If it's not well protected it will be partly ruined. Losses of this kind are not very essential, and rather than have the same affected in this manner we would prefer our true and loyal patrons to realize and enjoy these great reductions which we have made here.

HOME BURNED AT TERRA COTTA

Lightning Strikes a House, Which is Totally Destroyed.

A double frame dwelling house at the works of the Potomac Terra Cotta Works, at Terra Cotta, D. C., near Takoma Park, was struck by lightning during the storm yesterday afternoon and burned to the ground in a short time, resulting in a loss of nearly $2,000, fully covered by insurance.

The house was occupied by Harry B. Mason and Andrew Colton, and owned by the Potomac Terra Cotta Company, of which Mr. Mason is the vice president. It was shortly after 4 o'clock, when the storm was at its height, that the house was struck. A bolt of lightning struck one corner of the building at the roof's lower edge. A blue flame ran the length of the roof and in another minute the angles were blazing brightly. There is scarcely any protection against fire at the works, which are located beyond the city water mains. The heat from the flames spread so rapidly that attention was turned to saving the contents of the house as soon as an alarm had been sounded.

Practically all the household goods belonging both to Mr. Mason and to Mr. Colton were saved. Mr. Colton had a narrow escape while trying to bring out some articles of furniture. Engine Company No. 12, located on Brinkwood avenue, responded to the alarm. The terra cotta works are fully a mile and a half from the engine house, however, and when the company arrived the house was all ablaze. The chemical extinguisher, which was turned on immediately, but with little effect, and by the time the fire was entirely extinguished the structure had been destroyed.

THE MONEY RECOVERED.

A Strange Coincidence in Its Discovery During an Arrest.

Eighteen dollars and sixty-six cents was found in the yard at 515 F Street northwest last night just after Police- man Bremerman and Detective Barnes, of the Eighth precinct, had arrested Lacy Thomas, a colored servant, charged with stealing that amount from William King, who lives at the above number.

King missed the money yesterday morning and reported the matter to the police. The Thomas girl was suspected and last night, after a search, was taken to the house to arrest her. It is alleged that she threw the money into the yard just before they took her away. She was sent to the House of Detention.

FOUND A DROWNED BOY'S BODY.

Remains of the Alexander Child Taken From the Potomac.

The body of Walter Alexander, the young colored boy, who, while playing on a wharf at the foot of Thirty-second Street northwest, fell overboard and was drowned Friday night, was recovered shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Benjamin Chamberlain, of 3411 Third Street. Chamberlain was standing on a wharf in the vicinity of the Aqueduct bridge when he saw a dark object floating down the stream. He went to the wharf and upon rowing out into the stream found the body of a child. He called to a man and telephoned the Eleventh precinct police. Deputy Coroner Glazebrook was notified and after the body had been identified by Alexander's family it was turned over to them for burial.

AN IRATE STEPPATHER.

His Argument With Smith Leads to the Latter's Arrest.

Andrew T. Smith, an employee of the Southern Railway Company in this city, was arrested by Policeman Emmert, of the First precinct, shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by Robert Richardson, charging him with assault. Smith was released shortly after his arrest upon depositing $15 collateral for his appearance in court tomorrow morning.

Smith, the police claim, formerly lived at 145 Fourth Street northwest, and for some time had been calling upon Miss Mabel Cornwell, a stepdaughter of Mr. Richardson. The latter, it is claimed, objected to Smith's calls, and it is said that when he called Smith standing in front of his home, 165 Vermont Avenue, last Monday night, he said about it. A quarrel between the two ensued, during which Smith, it is alleged, struck Richardson across the face with his hand, badly bruising his right eye. Mr. Richardson then swore out the warrant against Smith, who was taken into custody by Policeman Emmert.

Mr. Richardson seemed greatly excited over the affair when he visited the First precinct station last night and learned that the accused had been released on collateral and asked that he intended having Smith bonded over to keep the peace for fear that the accused might do bodily harm.

The case will be given a hearing in Police Court tomorrow morning.

ANOTHER STRAY BULLET.

Mrs. Walcott's Arm Disabled While Holding Her Baby.

Another casualty which is said to have occurred on the Fourth of July night was reported to the Ninth precinct police last night by Harry L. Walcott, of 519 F Street northwest.

Mr. Walcott informed Sergeant Wright that while his wife, Mary E. Walcott, was standing at the window on the second floor of her home, holding a baby in her arms, a bullet passed through her right arm, and then embedded itself in the wall. The bullet, Mr. Walcott said, was fired by her husband, who at once summoned a doctor. The wound, while a painful one, is not thought to be serious.

The row occurred during the progress of a crap game on a vacant lot adjoining Potomac Street northwest, on the Fourth of July. A fight ensued in which Hurd slashed Holland across the side of the head with a knife, inflicting a painful though not dangerous wound.

From Prosperity to Workhouse.

Elias Hammond, fifty years of age, was fined $5 by Judge Kimball in the Police Court yesterday on a charge of vagrancy. He went to the workhouse for fifteen days in default. Hammond, it was said, was formerly a prosperous produce dealer in this city. Business reverses overtook him and he resorted to umbrella mending for a living. A policeman said he found Hammond lying under a tree on Morrison Street north of a scrap he saw in the gutter, and that he was sick, probably the result of the intense heat.
